COVET project

THE COVET PROJECT IS COMING TO AN END AND THIS NEWSLETTER WILL GUIDE YOU THROUGH THE DIFFERENT PROJECT OUTCOMES.
THE COVET PROJECT DELIVERED 4 MAIN RESULTS:

ANALYSIS OF THE VET TEACHERS' NEEDS

A research on the current needs and skill level of VET teachers in relation to their actual ability to teach online and to prepare engaging lessons.

Training modules

A series of training modules covering 3 macro-areas:
Competences of the VET Teacher,
E-Learning for VET teachers,
Online resources and activities

CURRICULUM

Based on the thorough analysis of the available researches and surveys, the Covet partners identified a number of crucial competences for teachers in vocational education and training to design and deliver engaging online lessons

SAMPLE LESSONS

A complementary teaching and training material consisting of a series of 36 sample lessons describing the process of transformation from offline to online training delivery.

On 10 February 2023, the last meeting of the COVET project took place in Rome.

The partners reviewed all important aspects of the project, taking into account all the results reached so far and those still to be completed.

As the project is nearing its end, the partners finalised the details of the final report and planned the final events that will be organised by each organisation in their own country around the end of February.

The last meeting of the Covet project was attended by 15 people and it was also an opportunity to strengthen our network and to explore new ideas and new projects within the Erasmus+ Programme in order to work together again.
