FINAL MEETING IN PRAGUE

The Solaris project is coming to an end, and with it the final details are now being finalized. In recent months, various tasks related to various objectives have been carried out.

The last meeting with all the colleagues of the consortium has also taken place to put the finishing touch, defining the final tasks, this has been held in the beautiful city of Prague under the cold and snowy day of December 1, 2023.

MULTIPLIER EVENTS

In the multiple events, which have taken place in different countries such as Spain and Romania for example, a presentation has been made of what has been carried out so far in the project, taking a trip through the various results as well as a visit to the project website, in which the participants in these events were amazed by the results created. The other colleagues in the consortium are also carrying out multiplier events in their countries.

Results

In relation to Result 1, various videos have been transcribed to be inserted shortly on the project website.

Regarding Result 2, translations have been carried out in which design and organization details have been taken into account.

In Result 3 and 4, work has been done by all members of the consortium to polish the details of each module and the various peer reviews have been carried out.
